

ABSTRACT

The invention features ABC1 nucleic acids and polypeptides for the diagnosis and treatment of abnormal cholesterol regulation. The invention also 5 features methods for identifying compounds for modulating cholesterol levels in an animal (e.g., a human).